Washington Airport Management Association Conference

Airport staff attended the Washington Airport Management Association (WAMA) Conference in Vancouver, WA on May 18th - May 20th, 2016. Staff was busy throughout the conference attending general sessions as well as breakout sessions to keep up on the ever changing rules and regulations and best practices for managing an airport. The FAA was there to update us on safety and standard issues etc., and WSDOT briefed us on the grant application process. Overall the conference was very informative and a lot was learned by collaborating with staff from other airports within Washington State.

Wings of Rescue

Recently you may have seen Wings of Rescue flights dropping off large numbers of healthy pets at Arlington Flight Services. Wings of Rescue is a non-profit organization that takes healthy pets from high intake shelters to no kill shelters. Their motto is "We fly them home." Wings of Rescue was founded in 2009 by Yehuda Netanel in Woodland Hills, CA. They have flown over 19,000 pets to safety since their inception. Wings of Rescue is currently looking for pilots who are interested in volunteering their time to fly Wings of Rescue missions with their own aircraft. If you are an interested pilot who flies a larger type aircraft, please email Wings of Rescue at info@wingsofrescue.org or visit their website at www.wingsofrescue.org.

Featured AWO Business

Aviation Covers is located right here at the Arlington Municipal Airport. Aviation Covers designs and manufactures aircraft covers for all segments of the aviation industry. Whether you have a Piper Super Cub, a Boeing 747 or an YF-17 Fighter, they can help you protect your investment!

Aviation Covers President Joang Shaeffer worked in the Seattle Garment Manufacturing Industry for over 30 years before coming to Arlington. Joang and her husband Bob purchased Lynn Cunningham's aircraft cover patterns in 2006 and contracted Mr. Cunningham during their first years of business to provide his pattern making skills while their apprentices were trained to fashion new patterns in the same tradition.

Aviation Covers designs their patterns using tried and true methods, the old fashioned way. Their designers go to the aircraft, or the aircraft comes to them for the first stage of the pattern making process. They then create a prototype cover from the pattern first. Final adjustments are made for antennas and any other devices to uniquely fit the aircraft.

Going forward, Aviation Covers is proud to continue providing the same craftsmanship many have come to know. If you would like more information about Aviation Covers, please visit their website at www.aviationcovers.com.

Science Fair & Field Trips

In the month of May, Airport Staff participated in the Haller Middle School Science Fair and hosted 4 field trips with over 75 children at the Arlington Municipal Airport. The science fair was exciting with over 100 students and siblings participating in experiments to demonstrate Bernoulli's Principal. The field trips ranged from 3 to 10 year olds completing educational scavenger hunts and learning the basics of flight. Airport staff is eager to continue to participate in events which will encourage the younger generation to be excited about aviation.

Glider Update

The glider pilots from Evergreen Soaring are enjoying the newly graded and re-seeded center berm for take-offs/landings and have taken advantage of a number of good soaring days in May to explore the mountains. Best flight thus far was 375 miles on May 10th by their most adventurous pilot, Ron Clark who completed a 6:45 hour flight between Ross Lake in the north and Rimrock Lake (Tieton State airfield) in the south. This puts AWO in the lead for soaring flights in the Pacific Northwest in 2016.

59th Ave Improvements

I am sure many of you have already noticed the repair work the City has recently completed on 59th Ave, this work was completed by Lakeside Industries during the evening hours of May 9th and 10th. This work entailed grinding out the structurally deficient asphalt pavement to depths of 3"- 4" and replacing with new asphalt. The repair work has made travel along 59th much nicer.....but they are not done yet. The road will be resurfaced with a 2" lift this summer.

If you have any questions about the City's paving project, please call the City Project hotline at 360-403-3544.
