

20.68.020 Signs Excluded from Regulation.

(12) City government owned and/or operated Public-public information stations such as kiosks, bulletin boards, readerboards, freestanding signs, or similar devices used to convey community information, that do not to exceed sixteen-thirty-two square feet per side. These signs may have changeable text, internal illumination, or external lighting. All external lighting shall comply with §20.60.400(d). Readerboards and freestanding signs shall require a building permit and meet all applicable building codes, along with setbacks from public rights of way.